

Call for LUM Young Scientist Award 2024

XI International Conference for Dispersion Analysis & Materials Testing

With calling for papers for Young Scientist Award 2024, LUM continues to broaden its support and commitment in promoting young researchers from industries and academic institutions all across the globe. Submissions of relevant scientific results to the scientific committee of the conference are hereby strongly encouraged.

The next conference will be held on June 10 - 11, 2024 in the ABACUS Tierpark Hotel, Berlin. Details to follow. Please also refer to the conference website:
<https://conference2024.lum-gmbh.com/>

To qualify, any applicant must meet the following conditions:

- Experimental results that advance the understanding of the general scientific community in the analysis of dispersions/particles respectively in materials testing were obtained by using LUM instruments. The age of the applicant should be below 30 years and the submitted scientific results not older than 2 years.
- The scientific significance of the results is met by submitting a peer reviewed publication, a Bachelor, Master or PhD thesis as copy, or, in case of unpublished results, a detailed description of work.
- Applicants provide a two-page abstract and a detailed curriculum vitae, including non-academic activities, along with a letter of recommendation by the corresponding supervisor. Please download the stylesheet for your abstract HERE. Kindly submit all documents by email to event@lum-gmbh.de, keyword ‘LUM YSA 2024’.

A jury is going to evaluate the applications and up to 5 candidates will get an official nomination letter. In addition, nominees are invited to present their results in a special Award Session. A two-night accommodation in the conference hotel is provided for the nominees.

The winner of the LUM Young Scientist Award 2024 receives a prize money of 1,000 Euros.

The deadline for the submission of the abstract and the required application documents is October 31, 2023.
